In the News

Congratulations to Ben Sundberg (dual major undergrad in CE and WSE) who was selected as a recipient of OSU's University Honors College Honors Promise Finishing Scholarship ($5000). Ben was among 10 students chosen by a faculty committee from a field of 32 nominees, an outstanding pool that included many of the UHC's most dedicated, involved, and accomplished students. Ben has been a leader of our CCE steel bridge team for four years, an extremely active executive chair of ASCE in charge of our various teams and community service projects, and chair of the ASCE Pacific Northwest student conference coming to OSU in April of 2013.

Q&A with Sandra Woods (Dolan Company via Daily Journal of Commerce)

After serving as the dean of the College of Engineering at Colorado State University for seven years, Sandra Woods is preparing to take the same position at OSU, where she started her career as an engineer in 1984.

Bridge engineers say they have less control over projects (Daily Journal of Commerce)

If it were up to the engineering community, the long-delayed and highly controversial Columbia River Crossing project would be completed by now, according to Chris Higgins.

Opportunities

DAS Shuttle will continue their interagency shuttle service with the exception of WOU.

For questions OSU Printing & Mailing, digital.printing@oregonstate.edu.

The OSU Libraries Summer Graduate Student and Faculty Workshop series runs July 24-26. Sessions focus on citation manager tools (EndNote/EndNote Web, Mendeley, Zotero) and data management. Sign up today to save your seat http://bit.ly/graduate\_workshops. Questions? Hannah.rempel@oregonstate.edu.

The Java Cart has completely moved out of Owen Hall after 10 years of business. The Java Stops are in the process of restructuring their facilities and services.
